This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

OF THE

Young Men's Association,

MAY, 1861.

Members of the Association :—

The Board of Directors submit to you the following report :

FINANCE.

The Treasurer's Report, herewith submitted, shows the Receipts from all sources to be	$2,883 61
The Expenditures	2,697 68
Balance	$185 93

RECEIPTS.

Balance in Treasury at date of last Annual Report	$72 74
Initiation Fees	228 00
Dues	1,601 73
Fines	50 04
Sale of books, papers and catalogues	35 86
Net profits of course of lectures	576 00
Lecture by Bartlett	69 25
Received on insurance from loss by fire	250 00
Total	$2,883 62

EXPENDITURES.

Printing and advertising	$58 29
Expenses of Bartlett's lecture	80 46

Room expenses	115 59
Books and binding	860 37
Insurance on property	45 00
Rent	400 00
Gas	116 30
Postage	32 78
Magazines	94 13
Salaries of Librarian and assistant	765 21
Newspapers	129 55
Total	$2,697 68

There are dues uncollected to the amount of about $225. The year has been one of extraordinary financial prosperity. For the first time in the history of the Association, the revenue from ordinary sources (not including lectures) has been more than sufficient to meet the running expenses. If the present public interest in the Association can be maintained, there can be no doubt about its future prosperity. But our present success is a pledge of still greater success to come.

NUMBER OF MEMBERS.

The number of members at the date of the last Annual Report, including 59 life members, was		716
New members added during the year, including two life members		234
		950
Decrease by removal	80
Decrease by resignation	17
Decrease by death	7	—104
Present number, including 61 life members		846

During the year the number of ladies' memberships has advanced from nineteen to thirty-one.

CONTRIBUTORS TO LIBRARY.

The Association is indebted to E. D. Holton, J. W. Hoyt, Hon. John F. Potter, Col. J. D. Graham, (U. S. N.,) G. W. Featherstonehaugh, Wm. Daniel, C. Adams, Geo. W. Chapman, S. Chapman, Mrs. Chas. Cain, C. Durkee, G. G. Meade, Col. L. H. D.

Crane, and others; and to the Patent Office and the Department of the Interior for valuable contributions of books, maps, papers, &c.; also to W. H. Sherman for several fine photographs of distinguished lecturers.

In accordance with the provisions of the Statute, granting copies of all State publications to literary institutions which have a library of three hundred volumes, the President of the Association has filed with the Secretary of State a verified application for such publications, and has received and delivered to the Association copies of all those of which the edition was not exhausted. These books, contributed by the State, are valuable, and necessary to the completeness of the library. Copies of all State publications should hereafter be secured for the Association as soon as they are published.

Many reports of kindred and other associations have been received, and are on file.

LIBRARY AND READING ROOM.

The number of volumes in the library at the date of the last Annual Report, was		3,798
Number added during the year by purchase		624
Number added during the year by donations		175
Number added during the year by binding periodicals and pamphlets		34
		4,631
Number of volumes sold	49
Number of volumes lost and paid for	4—	53
Present number of volumes		4,578

We fear that an actual enumeration of the volumes would make it apparent that a considerable number had been stolen from the shelves. The Library has become so large, and the rooms of the Association so much a place of resort, that a proper care for the safety of the books requires that they should be so enclosed that no one could take them from the shelves, except the Librarian and his assistant.

In the Reading Room additions have been made, during the year, to the number of newspapers and magazines. The room is almost constantly thronged with readers.

CATALOGUES.

At the commencement of the year the Board of Directors discussed the subject of printing a new catalogue of the entire Library The result of this discussion was the conclusion that, as a supplement had been printed the year before, a new catalogue was not absolutely necessary. They therefore decided to postpone this expense and devote all the funds, beyond what were required to meet the running expenses of the Association, to the purchase of books. Now, however, a sufficient number of books having been added to the Library to form a new supplement, and the first supplement being out of print, the new catalogue seems to have become a positive necessity.

LECTURES.

The Lecture Committee make the following report of the receipts and expenses of the course of lectures, including Gough's extra lecture, and Miss Stevens' reading:

Receipts from sale of season tickets		$746 00
Recipts from sale of evening tickets		708 56
		$1,454 56
Paid to lecturers	$532 25
Expense of printing, advertising, telegraphing, &c	163 87
Discount on uncurrent money	2 44
Hall rent	180 00	— $878 56
Net profits		$576 00

The net profits of last year's course, which was regarded as eminently successful, were $463 19.

For the first time in many years our course of lectures has been carried through without the failure of a single lecturer, whose name was announced at its commencement. Only those who have themselves served on a lecture committee can appreciate the difficulties in the way of such a result, or know what care and energy were neccessary to accomplish it.

On behalf of the Board of Trustees.

President.

SKETCH

OF THE

History of the Association.

This record is compiled from information gathered from official sources, and from past officers of the Association, and is presented here as a collection of facts, which will have an increasing interest for members, both old and new.*

On Wednesday evening December 8th, 1847, a number of citizens of the, then, new city of Milwaukee, met in the parlor of the United States Hotel (corner of East Water and Huron streets, burned in 1854,) in pursuance of a call published in the newspapers, to take preliminary steps for the formation of a Young Men's Literary Association. S. Osgood Putnam, (now of California) was president of the meeting, and E. P. Allis, secretary. After considerable consultation and discussion, on motion of H. W. Tenney, resolutions were adopted in favor of the establishment of a Library in connection with a Reading Room and Debating Society, and for the appointment of a committee to draft a Constitution for the organization of a Young Men's Association. The committee consisted of Messrs. Putnam, Mason, Vliet, Tenney, Holton and VanDyke.

On the 13th of December the committee submitted the draft of a Constitution which was considerably discussed and finally adopted by the meeting, but at an adjourned meeting, Dec. 18th, the subject was again discussed, and the record shows that objections were made to 13 of the 19 articles which composed the Constitution, and the whole matter was referred to a new committee, who, on the 20th of December, reported a revised document, which, in turn, was discussed and rejected, and the original report, somewhat amended, was finally adopted, and the Young Men's Association had a beginning.

* The Committee are under great obligations to J. R. Brigham, Esq., for valuable assistance rendered by him in the preparation of this Sketch. His personal recollections of the early history of the Association have enabled us to give a much fuller and more interesting account of that period than could possibly have been derived from the bare records of the Association. H. W. Tenney, now of Madison, has also furnished many interesting reminiscences.

The original Constitution divided members into two classes, by age; those over 35 years being classed as honorary members, and required to pay $5,00 initiation, and those between 18 and 35, being regular members, and paying an initiation fee of $2,00. Both classes paid $2.00 yearly. Life members were admitted to either class on payment of $25.00, in one sum, and paid no yearly dues. Besides these classes of members, persons under 18 years of age had the privilege of the library on payment of dues, but had no vote, and were ineligible to office. The offices were divided between the two classes of members. The honorary members taking five trustees, and the regular members two trustees, the president, two vice presidents, the treasurer and the corresponding and recording secretaries. This classification of officers was not adopted until after considerable discussion, and at the end of a year the sytem was revised, the classification dispensed with and the board of officers established, as it still remains. The first election of officers, to hold till the regular election in January, was had in the Common Council Rooms, on the 20th of December, 1847, though the election was not completed until the following week. A list of the officers is given elsewhere. The Constitution fixed the Wednesday following the second Tuesday in January, as the day of the annual election, and accordingly the first annual election was held January 19, 1848.

So far the proceedings of the Association had shown a special aptitude for debate and animated discussion, but after several weeks spent in the settlement of fundamental principles and the preliminaries for a permanent organization, and after the election of a full board of officers, it still remained to secure members and money to give the Association practical existence, and there were found earnest and active men, who undertook this somewhat thankless task, and to their labor we owe it, that we now have an Association and a Library. On the 5th of February they reported a subscription of $1513, and a membership consisting of 52 life members, 20 honorary members and 49 regular members. A room was leased in what was then the second, now third, floor of the building still standing at the north west corner of Wisconsin and Main streets, at a rent of $100 per year, "furnished with tables, chairs, bookcases, and other necessary fixtures for the use of the Association," in a style, of which an idea may be had, from the fact that the bills for the same amounted to considerably less than $50. The sum of $500 was appropriated for the purchase of books, and this, together with some donations, and some books received in payment of subscriptions, produced a library, which, at the end of the first year of the Association, numbered 810 volumes, and together with eleven of the leading English and American Quarterlies and Monthlies, constituted the attractions of the Room, which was open on Wednesday afternoon and Saturday evening of each week, under the charge of Edward Hopkins, who volunteered to do duty as the first librarian, and to whose care snd systematic labor during the first two years of the existence of the Association, very much is due.

At the annual meeting in January, 1849, the Constitution was revised and amended, as has been stated. The initiation fee was reduced to $1.00 for all members. The time of the annual election was changed to December. During this year, the interest in the library continued and grew, and for a part of the time the Room was kept open every evening. The number of members rose to 146. The receipts of the year were $303.44, which, with a surplus from the previous year, gave a fund of which $219.35 were expended for books, and $119,28 for incidental expenses. Two hundred and ninety nine new volumes were added to the library, and the list of periodicals was enlarged. We may presume that the directors found some difficulty in collecting dues and subscriptions, from the fact that it was officially recommended at the annual meeting, that measures be taken to procure the legal incorporation of the Association in order that it might enforce its collections, though we are not aware that to this day the legal business of the Association has been a profit to any attorney.

The third annual meeting was held December 4, 1849, and showed that the interest in the Association was well maintained. The attendance was large and spirited, and the discussion of various matters and plans for the benefit of the Association, continued until a late hour. A committee was appointed to canvass the city for new members and subscriptions; the necessity of a new and more attractive room was urged; a course of lectures was proposed, and other suggestions made and considered, all very much the same in kind, we may venture to say, that have been proposed, considered and discussed, among its members and directors, every year, from that to this. At this time so much interest was manifested that an adjourned meeting was held and more discussion was had, and among other things, it was strongly urged that the only way to reach the object desired, the establishment of a good public library, was to create a joint stock company, whose affairs should be managed as any other business operation. It was however, not found practicable to get the consent of all the subscribers to this arrangement, and that objection to the plan has grown stronger every year since. During this year a lecture before the Association was given by Chancellor Lathrop. A new room was obtained in the then new Martin's Block. Mr. Hopkins gave up the charge of the library, and Thomas Hyslop was appointed librarian and received a small salary. Eighty new members were added during the year, and the course of the Association showed no step backward.

Dec. 4, 1850—The fourth annual election and the beginning of the fourth year of the Association. During this year was commenced the first course of lectures before the Association, and although the lecturers were home men, and the admittance fee quite small ($1.00 for a family, to the course, and ten cents a single admission,) the result was satisfactory, and some of the lectures attracted considerable attention, and gave rise to some newspaper discussion. Debates were also started during this year, in the fall of 1851, and for some time created a good deal of interest and weekly excitement. $360.07 were expended in books and periodicals this year, and one hundred new books were added to the library which then numbered 1320 volumes. The other expenditures of the year amounted to $157.92.

The fifth annual election, December 3d, 1851, was a scene of great excitement; not so much from the number of votes, as from the kind, as the record shows the whole number cast to have been 68. But the report of the inspectors, and the tradition of the times, tell us that in the anxiety of contending aspirants for official honor some forgot an article in the Constitution which prescribed the qualifications of voters, and a rigid inquiry on the part of three grave inspectors of election disclosed the fact that some illegal votes had been cast. A long report was made, upon which a stormy debate arose, and even acrimony is said to have been exhibited; but the difficulty was finally surmounted by the remarkable (though the event would show, not unwise,) proposition by the new President elect, that all the officers who claimed to have been elected should resign and allow a new election, which was agreed to. The election was held December 9th, and the result was that some of the self-sacrificing men who had resigned, to save the Society, were again elected, but others were not. It is a matter of dispute to this day, among the most active participants in that wrangle, which party was really in earnest and which only feigned an excitement, to keep up an interest in the meetings of the Association.

In November of this year, new rooms for the Association were obtained on the first floor of the large new block of W. P. Young, corner of Wisconsin and Main streets; but the library had hardly been established there before the whole block was burned to the ground, and the Association was indebted to its active members and friends for saving its property. The small loss sustained was fully covered by an insurance; and the Association next found a landlord in S. L. Rood, and occupied his rooms over store No. 204 East Water street, the entrance at that time being from Wisconsin street.

In March, 1852, the Association was incorporated by act of the Legislature, its then Board of Directors being made corporators. The time of the annual meeting and election was changed to October. During this year a new catalogue was published — the second.

October 5th, 1852, the sixth annual election. In the winter of this year a second course of lectures, by home lecturers, was given. They were fairly attended, though they did not draw large audiences, except the two lectures on the "Spanish Inquisition," by the (then) Rev. Dr. Ives. These attracted full houses and made considerable sensation. More profit was realized out of a musical entertainment, undertaken by the Directors, for the benefit of the library. By aid of some members of the Musical Society, and some generously given assistance of ladies and gentlemen not accustomed to public exhibitions of their talent, the concert was well attended and well received, and a net profit of $70 was realized, which was applied to the purchase of books, and produced a valuable addition to the library.

October 5th, 1853, commenced the seventh, and as it proved, a most important year of the Association. At this time, notwithstanding its library and reading room afforded pleasure and profit to its members, they were few, and the Association was hardly known to the public generally — it filled no important place in the public mind. Its reading room was most of the time without visitors. Its annual meetings, which at first had been attended and participated in by many of our best and most influential citizens, were no longer interesting, and passed almost without notice. Anxious Directors all agreed that something must be done to make the library more attractive, and to induce new members to join. Among other plans, it was sometimes proposed to unite with the Musical Society in the purchase, or lease, of some central lot and the erection of a fine hall; but this it was thought best, after deliberation, to abandon, or at least postpone till it was well settled that the Association could pay the rent of its present rooms. About this time a destructive fire left our landlord, Mr. Rood, without a place of business, and he gave his attention to his tenant —the Association. He became Librarian, and by dint of much industry and great skill in making it uncomfortable for any body he applied to who did not join, and very comfortable and pleasant for all who did, he gained many new members to the Association. He went into the street with a subscription paper—an undertaking, at that time, quite too desperate for any body else — and soon realized a sum which put the library and reading room in good condition. A new carpet, new gas fixtures, a change of the clumsy book-cases which had come down from the beginning, for a neat and commodious shelving, and a general brushing up and improvement of all the interior arrangements of the Association, were his satisfactory vouchers to subscribers. The library was kept open during business hours, day and evening, and became a pleasant and frequented place of resort. The great event of the year, however, was the course of lectures. It had at that time become the fashion in other Western cities to call wise men from the East and give the citizens of the new country a chance to see who is who, and learn what is what in the old, by hebdomadal lectures. It was determined that the Young Men's Association should do this for Milwaukee. It should be remembered that at this time Milwaukee was a far and almost unknown country to lecturers. No railroad then connected us with the East; and in the winter season we had been accustomed to regard ourselves as more completely shut out from communication with the seaboard, than those who only know Milwaukee as it now is can well imagine. But we had a telegraph and a part of the Milwaukee & Mississippi Railroad, and it was decided to try. It happened that the management of the matter fell into the hands of one who had enthusiasm, perseverance and business capacity, and to him chiefly (though aided by others) is due the final complete and surprising success of our first course of lectures by men from abroad, — we so style it, though perhaps no lecture gave more satisfaction than that by our own Mr. Ryan. We need not say, for any one who was in Milwaukee during that winter, that we refer to B. W. Griswold, (now of New York city) who, as chairman of the Lecture Committee, was untiring in his attention from first to last. As a precaution, thought to be necessary, in the first place, a guaranty subscription was obtained from some forty persons to protect the Association in case of loss by the venture. Season tickets, for families and individuals, were hawked about the streets by the committee and other members of the Board, until $700 were realized before the lectures commenced. Advertising was done in all the usual modes, and also by members of the Board personally, who, one and all, talked lectures everywhere, until it was almost true that the chairman and his committee neither did, talked, nor thought anything but lectures continually. The result was a success which gave the Association a net profit of $833.39 for its library and a recognized position as an institution in Milwaukee. The annual report of the doings of the year shows: total receipts, $1,288.54; total expenditures, $1,148.36, (this statement includes only net profits of lectures as receipts); an addition to the library of 351 volumes by purchase; 102 new members added to the Association; a new catalogue, and a prosperous condition of things generally.

October 4, 1854, the eighth regular election. By a change in the Rules, the Board elected at this time continued in office only till May. They were expected to provide a course of lectures, which had come to be a recognized demand of the people, and duty of the Association. Ten lectures were given at a cost of $897.30, and with a net profit to the Association of $358.46. During the term, forty-one new members were added. The expenses, beside lectures, were $596.51.

The time of the election having been changed, to give time to prepare for the annual courses of lectures, the ninth annual election was held May 2, 1855. This year our Association formally joined with that of Chicago in obtaining a course of lectures, both Associations being able to offer inducements and to secure lecturers which neither alone could have done. The expenses of the course were $1,606.85, and the net profits were $360. This result was not regarded as satisfactory by the committee, who report that the same course in Chicago cleared over $1,500. During the year 140 new members were added, and 120 volumes were purchased for the library. The total receipts (including lectures) were $2,377.23; the expenses (beside lectures) were about $600.

May 7, 1856—Election. This year it was not thought best to undertake a full course of lectures, to occur weekly, for which tickets should be sold in advance, as heretofore; but the committee determined to secure such as they could obtain of those lecturers coming West, who would, in the opinion of the committee, draw good houses in Milwaukee. Eight lectures were given (among them, three by John B. Gough,) at a cost of $768.32, and with a clear profit of $359.35. About 400 new books were added to the library by purchase, beside many valuable works by donation; forty new members were added. During this year, the Directors concluded (not without hesitation) that the Association needed, and would support, new and larger rooms and a larger yearly expenditure, and the suite of rooms now occupied were rented for a term of years. During this year, also, the newspaper reading-room was established and furnished with twenty-five of the leading dailies of this country and Canada. The gross receipts this year were $2,380.19, and the expenditures were $2,303.12.

May 6, 1857—The eleventh year of the Association. At the beginning of this year the Association took possession of its new rooms and materially increased its annual expenses; and the Board found that it required some labor and care to provide for all the demands on the treasury. A careful examination disclosed that, while the apparent membership was much larger, the Association had, in fact, but about 300 reliable paying members, beside 40 life members. Lectures, as a source of revenue, were not available; their novelty had worn off. Indeed, a glance at the names of those who had already been presented to Milwaukee audiences, will show that the Association had pretty well gleaned the field of celebrities in that line, and that there were not many more whom people would pay to look at. Geo. W. Curtis, Horace Mann, Bayard Taylor, Horace Greeley, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Parke Godwin, James Russell Lowell, John G. Saxe, Josiah Quincy, jr., John Pierpont, John B. Gough, Wendell Phillips, T. Starr King, Henry Ward Beecher, George Sumner, and Dr. H. W. Bellows, were in the lists of those who had been here. The Association could not afford to risk a course of lectures, the profit of which to the treasury would be doubtful. For the purpose of testing the question, one popular lecturer was brought here and every reasonable effort was made to get him an audience; but the result was a failure and a loss to the Association, and no more were attempted. The great commercial crisis had so darkened all prospects, that it was often a matter of serious consideration with the Directors how they were to pay the debts and expenses incurred during the year and leave the treasury sound at the close. It was determined to make a special effort for more life members, and at the personal solicitation of Directors, seventeen gentlemen joined the Association as life members and paid into its treasury $425. 142 yearly members were added, and at the close of the year the Board were able to report all debts paid and a balance on hand. The total receipts of the year (no lectures) were $1,351.29, and the expenditures $1,284.35.

May 5th, 1858, began another year of the Association. It will be seen by the list of officers, that at the election this year, the Board of Directors was almost wholly changed. It is but just to those gentlemen who composed the previous Board, some of whom had been connected with its management and had worked for the Association from its start, and most of whom had been associated in its direction for more than half a decade, to say that they did not leave their work, nor abandon their charge, till they saw the Association established, its position assured, and its prospects of power and usefulness bright. They now felt that they might claim a discharge and leave the work to those who might bring to it a fresher zeal, but could not feel a deeper interest in the prosperity of our Association.

The election this year was remarkable for the interest shown and the number of votes cast, being nearly two hundred—nearly three times the number of late years. The Board thus elected carried on the work vigorously. They added to the number of periodicals and newspapers of the reading-room; they increased the salary of the Librarian to compensate him for increase of duty with the increase of members; they adopted the plan of purchasing new and popular books as soon as published, and advertising them as they were received; they made special efforts for increasing the membership, and 296 new members were added during the year; they added to the library, by purchase, donation and binding of pamphlets, seven hundred and ninety-three volumes. The total receipts of the year were $2,522.29; the expenditures were $2,506.17. Included in the receipts was the sum of $786.67, received on insurance to cover loss by a fire in the building, which had nearly been more serious. Lectures were tried again at a cost of $866.10, and a profit of $241.15. The Board also revised and amended the General Rules and Regulations, adapting them to the wants of the Association in its present condition. These Rules were adopted at the annual meeting.

May 5th 1859—This year was a most successful one for the Association. A good deal of interest had been taken in the election, and although three tickets were in the field, the "Regular Ticket" (so called) was elected throughout. Nearly 300 votes were cast, a number of new members added, and a general awakening in regard to the interests of the Association was the result. A new set of "Rules and Regulations of the Board of Directors" was adopted, to accompany the revised Rules and Regulations of the Society, adopted at the last annual meeting, and the Rules of the Library and Reading Room were also revised by the committee in charge of that department. Everything in the power of the Board was done to improve the condition of the Association and to enlarge its means of usefulness. An address to the public was prepared by a committee, and extensively circulated, and a canvass of the city similar to that of last year resulted in a considerable increase of membership. The whole number of members added during the year was 237. A musical and literary entertainment undertaken for the benefit of the library, proved, however, that the public could not yet be relied upon with certainty to support the directors in their endeavors to push forward the institution, as the net profits of the evening amounted to the enormous sum of $4.25! During the year, application was made by the "Builders and Architects Association" for the purpose of forming a union with the Association, and a committee was appointed to confer with that body; but after a full hearing of their purposes and demands, it was found to be inexpedient to meet their wishes, and the matter was accordingly dropped.

The course of lectures given this year proved highly successful, the receipts amounting to $1134.28, and the net profits to $463,-19. The improvements in the library were also extensive, over 400 volumes having been added, of which 155 were donations. Among the most extensive donors, it seems proper to mention Mr. John Hepburn, who contributed many valuable works, more especially in a department of literature in which the library was greatly deficient, and the "friends of the new church in Milwaukee," who enriched our shelves with a splendid edition of the complete wooks of Emanuel Swedenburg. The Association is also under a deep debt of gratitude to the Hon. John F. Potter, for the handsome manner in which he supplied the library with the public documents at his disposal; and the election of that gentleman as a life member of the Association, was a fitting acknowledgement of the interest uniformly manifested by him in its welfare. A second supplementary catalogue was published during the year. The entire receipts of the Association for the year were $2153.21, and the expenditures $2080.47.

May 7th, 1860—The election of officers for this year was more severely contested, and excited a larger degree of public interest, than ever before in the history of the Association. The week which intervened between the annual meeting and the day of election (a change resulting from the Revised Rules and Regulations adopted the year before,) gave time for the holding of meetings and the discussion of the merits of the various candidates nominated. By the established custom of the Association the ticket first nominated claims to be the "Regular Ticket," and whatever comes after that is compelled to assume some other name. On this occasion half a dozen different tickets were put in circulation, but before election day, a consolidation was effected, and the field was left clear for the two tickets named respectively the "Regular" and "Opposition." And bravely was the battle fought. Many of our leading professional and business men entered the contest as if the most momentous consequences were depending upon it. Every member was canvassed and arguments the most convincing used on both sides. Newspaper squibs appeared preferring the most serious charges againt the candidates, flaming placards were posted on every available corner, and the rooms presented a scene of excitement never surpassed at the polls on any political election in the city. The result was the election of the entire "Regular Ticket." Nearly 500 votes were cast. It is much to be desired that something of the kind could be stirred up every year, as it undoubtedly tends to awaken a lively interest in the Association, and sets its objects before the public mind in the most advantageous light.

The year proved one of extraordinary financial prosperity for the Association, and to quote the language of the Annual Report of the Directors, "for the first time in the history of the Association the revenues from ordinary sources (not including lectures) were more than sufficient to meet the running expenses." The total receipts for the year were $2883.61, and the expenditures $2697.68. In the month of September a fire took place in the library, but it was fortunately discovered and extinguished before much damage was done. The amount ($250,) received from the Insurance Company, amply covered the injury sustained. During the year, 234 new members were added, making the whole membership 845, a number which will compare favorably with that of similar institutions in many larger and much older cities. One fact worth noting is that the ladies' membership increased during this year from 19 to 31. The course of lectures managed by O. E. Britt, Esq., was one of the most successful ever given by the Association—the net profits footing up to $576. The improved condition of the Association having greatly increased the business devolving upon the Librarian, an Assistant was accordingly appointed at a salary of $4.00 per month, which was afterward raised to $8.00. During the year 624 volumes were added to the library at a cost of about $800.

May 13th, 1861—This election passed with much less stir than for several years previous, owing to the excited state of the country at that time. The Board found the Association in a highly prosperous condition, but it is not to be expected that much progress will be made, during a time when all public institutions of this character must suffer more or less from the terrible consequences of the rebellion, which is menacing the very existence of the Government under which we live—a government, it should here be said, whose genius is to foster every enterprise of a peaceful and improving nature. It is not the intention of the Directors, however, to relax their efforts for the welfare and improvement of the Association, as the publication of this catalogue will sufficiently indicate. The large additions made to the list of newspapers and periodicals, is another evidence of their intention not to diminish the advantages and attractions offered by the Association; and it is earnestly to be hoped that the public support will not be withdrawn from an institution capable of exerting so large a degree of usefulness, and that nothing will occur to stay its advancement in the career of prosperity upon which it has now so fairly entered.

the affairs of the Association, as may be presented for consideration Notice of the time and place of which meeting shall be given, at least ten days prior to its being held, in one or more of the public newspapers of the city.

SEC. 7. Special meetings of the members of the Association may be called by the President, when requested to do so by any four members of the Board of Directors, or any ten members of the Association, in writing, and the same notice of such special meeting shall be given, as is required by the preceeding section, for the annual meeting, and no other business shall be transacted at any such special meeting, than shall be named in the call.

ARTICLE II. — OF OFFICERS.

SECTION 1. The officers of the Association, as prescribed in the Act of Incorporation, shall consist of a President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, and seven Trustees, all of whom shall be elected annually, by ballot, on a general ticket, and a plurality of the votes cast, shall be necessary to constitute an election.

SEC. 2. It shall be the duty of the President to preside at all meetings of the Association and Board of Directors, preserve order therein, appoint all committees not otherwise provided for, and in case of an equal division of the members on any question, give the casting vote. He shall also, at the annual meeting of the Association, appoint three inspectors to superintend the next election of officers.

SEC. 3. In case of the death or absence of the President, or his inability to act, the Vice-President shall perform the duties of the office, and in case of the absence or inability of both the President and Vice-President, some person to be appointed by the Board of Directors, shall perform the duties of the office for the time being.

SEC. 4. The Secretary shall keep an accurate record of the transactions of the Association and of the Board of Directors, shall notify officers of their election, give notice of the meetings of the Association, and of the Board, and perform all other duties usually incident to that office.

SEC. 5. The Treasurer shall receive and safely keep all moneys of the Association, and pay them out only on the order of the Board of Directors, upon drafts on him issued by the Secretary, and countersigned by the President. He shall keep an accurate account of all receipts and disbursements, report the same to the Board of Directors, whenever required, and also to the Association at each annual meeting, together with the vouchers in support of the same. He shall, within ten days after receiving notice of his election, and before entering upon the duties of his office, execute a bond to the Association, with two sureties, to be approved by the Board of Directors, in such sum as the Board shall direct, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties.

SEC. 6. The Board of Directors, consisting of all of the foregoing officers, shall have the control and management of the affairs and property of the Association, and shall institute such By-Laws and Regulations, not inconsistent with these general Rules and Regulations, and the Act of Incorporation, as may seem from time to time necessary for attaining the objects and carrying into effect the purposes of this Association. They shall at each annual meeting report to the Association, by the President, a full account of their transactions during the preceding year, and give a statement of the condition of the Library and state of the Association.

SEC. 7. A Librarien shall be appointed by the Board of Directors, who shall, under their supervision, take charge of the Rooms and of the Library, and other property of the Association. He shall keep a register of all Books, Maps, Charts, and other property belonging to the Association, (with the names of donors, in cases where books or articles have been presented,) arrange them in proper order, and perform such other services as may be required of him from time to time by the Board of Directors.

SEC. 8. The Board of Directors shall meet on the Tuesday evening succeeding their election, for the purpose of organization; and thereafter, they shall meet at least once in each month. They shall also meet on the Tuesday following the next annual election, to receive the report of the Inspectors of Election.

SEC. 9. The Board of Directors shall have power to fill all vacancies occurring in their number.

SEC. 10. If the officers in their several official capacities, shall neglect the performance of their duties, or shall not administer the laws of the Association efficiently and equitably, on written complaint of twenty members, a meeting shall be called and a committee appointed, consisting of two members and one director, who shall report and refer the subject to the Association, and they shall censure, remove from office, or exonerate the accused, as the circumstances of the case may warrant.

ARTICLE III. — ELECTION.

SECTION 1. The annual election of officers of the Association shall be held on the Monday following the first Tuesday in May, of each year; notice of which election shall be given in the same manner, and at the same time with the notice for the annual meeting.

SEC. 2. The election shall be held under the superintendence of three Inspectors, previously appointed, and the polls shall be kept open from two o'clock P. M., to nine o'clock P. M.

SEC. 3. A list of all members of the Association shall be furnished the Inspectors by the Librarian, stating if any dues are unpaid, and the amount; and no person shall be allowed to vote, who is in arrears for dues.

SEC. 4. The Inspectors of Election shall report to the Board of Directors, on the Tuesday following the annual election, the result of said election, and on receiving the said report, duly certified and accompanied by proof, that the notice of such election was duly given, as required by the Rules and Regulations, the Board of Directors shall order the report to be placed on the Records of the Association, when the several persons elected shall be deemed qualified for their several offices and notice of their election shall be given to them by the Secretary.

ARTICLE IV. — ALTERATIONS AND AMENDMENTS.

SECTION 1. These Rules and Regulations may be altered or amended by a vote of two-thirds of the members present at any meeting of the Association, provided such proposed alteration or amendment has been submitted to the Board of Directors, at a meeting of said Board, at least two weeks before action upon the same, and provided notice of the nature and substance of the proposed alteration or amendment be duly published, with notice of the meeting at which the same is to be acted upon, and a full copy of said proposed alteration or amendment is left with the Librarian for the inspection of any member, at least two weeks before the said meeting.

the names of those members who may neglect or refuse to pay their dues, fines or forfeitures, and the amount respectively due from each; the names of such members as may lose or damage any book or other property of the Association, accompanied by an assessment of such loss or damage, and of such as have not returned upon due notice, as provided for by rule 6, the books taken by them from the library, with the titles of such books.

RULE 6. He shall on the first Monday of the months of April, July, October and January, notify each member who has not then returned in due season, the book or books, by such member taken from the library, of such default, and require the return thereof forthwith.

RULE 7. No person shall be allowed the privileges of the Library or Reading Room while indebted to the Association for any dues or penalties.

RULE 8. Every member may draw from the Library one volume, octavo, or two volumes of less size, if connected and belonging to one set.

RULE 9. No book shall be detained longer than two weeks, unless renewed; and if detained longer, the person detaining the same shall pay for every week's detention, ten cents; one day's detention over a week being considered equivalent to a full week.

RULE 10. All books may be renewed for one week, except such books as shall have been added to the library within one year previous to the time of application for renewal. After the return of any book, the same person shall not take the same volume again, till it has remained in the library two full days.

RULE 11. Every member shall be responsible for loss or injury of any book or set drawn by him; the damage to be assessed by the Librarian; provided that the member may appeal from the decision of the Librarian to the Board of Directors.

RULE 12. Any member may introduce any person, not a resident of the city, to the rooms of the Association, entering his own name with that of the person introduced by him, upon a book provided for that purpose. The person so introduced shall be entitled to the privileges of the Library and Reading Room for one month, but shall not be privileged to take books, pamphlets or papers from the rooms of the Association.

RULE 13. Books marked in the catalogue as books of reference, and such others as may from time to time be specially designated by the Board, shall not be taken from the Library, except by special permission of the Board of Directors.

RULE 14. Smoking or conversation in the Library or Reading Rooms is prohibited.

RULE 15. Any person who shall misplace any book upon the shelves of the Library, shall pay a fine of ten cents for each book so misplaced.

RULE 16. The Rules of the Library and Reading Room may be altered or amended at any time, by the Board of Directors.

READING ROOM.

RULE 1. The Reading Room shall be open every day, (Sundays excepted,) from half past seven o'clock A. M., to ten o'clock P. M.

RULE 2. The Librarian shall take charge of the Reading Room, and keep in their places, all the books, periodicals and newspapers belonging therein, and shall enforce such rules and regulations for the government of this department as the Board may enact.

RULE 3. The last number of each quarterly, monthly, weekly and daily periodical, shall be kept on the table or the files of the Reading Room. Earlier numbers may be taken from the Reading Room by permission of the Librarian, for one week only, subject to a fine of ten cents per week, if kept longer than that time.

RULE 4. None but members and such as have been introduced, as provided by Library Rule No. 12, shall be allowed the privileges of the Reading Room.

RULE 5. Any person who shall mutilate the periodicals or papers placed in the Reading Room, or remove them therefrom, shall be liable to a fine equal to four times the cost thereof.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

It will aid the reader in the use of the following catalogue, to bear in mind, that this is not a classified catalogue, nor technically speaking, a descriptive catalogue, neither does it attempt to furnish the popular designation of Books,—about which there would probably be no uniform agreement.

The plan adopted has been, firstly, to place each work, alphabetically, under the name, if known, or nom de plume of the author, editor or translator (making the proper distinction in the latter cases); and, secondly, under its literal title, or, if abridged, to do so as nearly as possible in the words of the original. On the shelves, the Books are arranged numerically, and classified according to subject.

Consideration of size and price, has compelled the abridgment of lengthy titles of Books, and the omission of all personal titles, unless essential parts of names, or when used by way of explanation, when the christian names are not known, and to distinguish authors having the same initials.

For volumes of "Executive Documents" wholly devoted to one subject, the reader is referred to the letters to which their specific titles respectively belong; and, for late volumes of Reports originally published in separate form, to the "Executive" or "Miscellaneous" Documents of subsequent years.

The subject of a memoir or life, is not necessarily to be found under the appropriate letter, except the work is partially or altogether autobiographical.

Books without an acknowledged or attributed authorship, can, of course, only be found in the "Catalogue by titles."

 Provision has been made in the numbering for future additions to the several departments.
